50 weird food combos that actually taste good

Sweet on salty. Spicy on cold. Pickles where pickles shouldn't be.
Every recipe comes with the hook, the on-screen text and the three shots to film it.

READ THIS FIRST

This isn't a cookbook with pretty pictures of things you'll never make. It's fifty combinations that sound wrong, taste right, and film well.

Every recipe has the same five parts: the hook (what you say in the first second of the video), why it works (the one line of flavour science that makes people trust you), the ingredients and method, and a film-it plan: three shots and three on-screen text lines. Make the food, shoot the three shots, post. That's the whole system.

The weird score is how much pushback you'll get in the comments. Ones and twos are crowd-pleasers. Fives are the ones that go viral because half the comments are "absolutely not" and the other half are "I tried it and I'm sorry I doubted you". Post the fives.

How to use the book

Start with the Pantry page: twenty ingredients cover most of the book. Then pick any chapter. The 30-day calendar at the back gives you a recipe a day for a month if you don't want to think. The hook bank is for when you've run out of first lines.

Make the weird thing. Then film it.

WHY WEIRD WORKS

Six rules explain every recipe in this book. Learn them and you can invent your own combos on camera.

Salt makes sweet sweeter

A pinch of salt suppresses bitterness and makes your tongue read sugar as stronger. Flaky salt on caramel, chocolate, watermelon, ice cream.

Acid cuts fat

Rich foods taste heavy until something sour arrives. Pickles with peanut butter, lime on tacos, balsamic on mascarpone.

Fat carries heat

Capsaicin dissolves in fat, so butter, oil and cream make chili taste rounder and last longer. Hot honey butter, chili crisp on ice cream.

Sweet softens spice

Sugar and heat hit different receptors; together they read as one bigger, friendlier flavour. Gochujang caramel, hot honey pizza.

Umami is depth, not a flavour you taste

Miso, soy, parmesan, fish sauce, kimchi make everything around them taste more like itself. Three drops of soy on vanilla.

Texture is half the taste

Crunch on creamy is the most shareable sound in food. Crispy rice, grated egg, pretzel in a shake, kataifi in chocolate.

THE 20-ITEM PANTRY

Buy these once. They show up in most of the fifty.

Chili crisp

Crunch, heat, garlic and oil in one jar. Goes on eggs, ice cream, pasta, salad.

Hot honey

Or make it: honey + chili flakes, 30 seconds in the microwave.

White miso

The salt that tastes like more. Cookies, caramel, butter, soup.

Tajín / chili-lime salt

Fruit, rims, popcorn, anything that needs lime and crunchy salt.

Flaky sea salt

Finishing salt. It's the difference between 'nice' and 'why is this so good'.

Dill pickles + their brine

Acid, salt and crunch. The brine is a free marinade.

Good olive oil

Fruity and peppery. Ice cream, mousse, yogurt, toast.

Rice vinegar

Gentler than white vinegar. Cucumbers, rice, dressings.

Kewpie mayo

Richer, eggier. Sushi bake, sandwiches, dips.

Gochujang

Sweet, savory chili paste. Caramel, butter, marinades.

Kimchi

Sour, spicy, crunchy. Grilled cheese, fried rice, eggs.

Fish sauce

Smells aggressive, tastes like depth. Caramel, dressings, wings.

Everything bagel seasoning

Garlic, onion, sesame, salt. Cottage cheese, eggs, avocado.

Dark chocolate (70%)

Mousse, bark, dates, strawberries.

Peanut butter

Fat, salt, sweetness. Sandwiches, burgers, dates, dough.

Cottage cheese

The 2020s' most reinvented ingredient. Dough, bowls, dips.

Instant ramen

A starch, a seasoning packet and a dare.

Medjool dates

Nature's caramel. Snickers dates, smoothies, boards.

Limes

Acid for everything. Buy a bag.

Parmesan

Umami you can grate. Pasta chips, carbonara, waffles.

SWEET × SALTY

Sugar makes salt taste saltier. Salt makes sugar taste sweeter.
Everything in this chapter abuses that.

01 HOT HONEY PICKLE CHIPS

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 20 MIN SERVES 2 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Fried pickles were already elite. Then I put hot honey on them.

Why it works. Vinegar + salt + sugar + chili is the exact profile of a great wing sauce. The pickle just brings its own acid.

INGREDIENTS

1 jar dill pickle chips, drained and patted very dry

1/2 cup flour

1 egg, beaten

1 cup panko

1 tsp garlic powder

Neutral oil or an air fryer

3 tbsp honey

1 tsp chili flakes or 1 tbsp hot sauce

Ranch, for dipping

METHOD

- 1 Dry the pickles hard with paper towel; wet pickles make soggy crumbs.
- 2 Dredge: flour, then egg, then panko mixed with garlic powder.
- 3 Air-fry 8 minutes at 200°C/400°F, flipping once, or shallow-fry 2 minutes a side until golden.
- 4 Warm the honey with the chili for 30 seconds in the microwave.
- 5 Drizzle the hot honey over the hot pickles. Serve with ranch.

Tip. Sweet bread-and-butter pickles work too, but go lighter on the honey.

02 PEANUT BUTTER PICKLE CHIP SANDWICH

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 5 MIN SERVES 1 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

This sandwich has been going viral since the 1940s and nobody believes it until they try it.

Why it works. Peanut butter is fat and salt with a little sweetness. Pickles are acid and crunch. It's the same logic as a PB&J, with the jam's sugar swapped for vinegar.

INGREDIENTS

2 slices soft white or brioche bread

2 tbsp crunchy peanut butter

6–8 dill pickle slices, patted dry

A handful of salted potato chips

Optional: a drizzle of honey or a few drops of hot sauce

METHOD

- 1 Spread peanut butter edge to edge on both slices. Both. This is non-negotiable.
- 2 Lay the pickle slices on one side in a single layer.
- 3 Crush a handful of potato chips on top of the pickles.
- 4 Close, press gently, cut diagonally.

Tip. Toast the bread lightly if you want it less soft.

03 SALTED PRETZEL CARAMEL BARK

WEIRD SCORE ● ● ● ● ● 25 MIN SERVES 8 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Three ingredients, one tray, and everyone at the party asks for the recipe.

Why it works. Pretzel salt sits right on top of sweet caramel, so every bite alternates salty and sweet instead of blending.

INGREDIENTS

250 g salted pretzels

200 g soft caramels or 1 cup caramel sauce

200 g dark chocolate

Flaky sea salt

METHOD

- 1 Line a tray with baking paper and lay the pretzels flat in one layer.
- 2 Melt the caramels with 1 tbsp water (microwave, 30-second bursts) and drizzle over the pretzels.
- 3 Melt the chocolate the same way and pour over the top. Spread with a spatula.
- 4 Sprinkle flaky salt. Fridge 15 minutes, then snap into shards.

04 MISO CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 35 MIN SERVES 16 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

I put miso in chocolate chip cookies and now regular ones taste flat.

Why it works. Miso is salt plus fermented umami. It does what sea salt does in a cookie, but deeper, like brown butter without browning anything.

INGREDIENTS

115 g butter, soft

100 g brown sugar

50 g white sugar

1 tbsp white miso

1 egg

1 tsp vanilla

160 g flour

1/2 tsp baking soda

150 g chocolate chips or chopped dark chocolate

Flaky salt

METHOD

- 1 Beat butter, both sugars and miso until creamy. Add egg and vanilla.
- 2 Stir in flour and baking soda, then the chocolate.
- 3 Scoop balls onto a lined tray, 5 cm apart. Chill 15 minutes if you can.
- 4 Bake 11–12 minutes at 180°C/350°F until the edges set and the middles look underdone. Salt on top the second they come out.

OLIVE OIL ICE CREAM WITH FLAKY SALT

WEIRD SCORE  2 MIN SERVES 1 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Rich people have been eating ice cream like this for years. It costs 30 seconds.

Why it works. Good olive oil is fruity and peppery; vanilla is sweet and creamy. The oil adds richness and the salt makes the vanilla taste more like vanilla.

INGREDIENTS

2 scoops good vanilla ice cream

1 tbsp extra-virgin olive oil (the grassy, peppery kind)

A pinch of flaky sea salt

Optional: a few flakes of black pepper or chopped pistachio

METHOD

- 1 Scoop the ice cream into a cold bowl.
- 2 Pour the olive oil over it in a thin stream.
- 3 Flaky salt on top. Eat immediately.

WATERMELON, FETA & MINT WITH TAJIN

WEIRD SCORE  10 MIN SERVES 4 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Watermelon and cheese sounds wrong until you remember salt makes fruit sweeter.

Why it works. Feta is salty, watermelon is sweet and watery, mint is cold, Tajín adds lime and chili. It's a whole salad that tastes like one bite.

INGREDIENTS

1/2 small watermelon, cubed

100 g feta, crumbled

A handful of mint leaves, torn

1 lime

1–2 tsp Tajín or chili–lime seasoning

Olive oil

METHOD

- 1 Pile the watermelon on a plate; don't toss it, you'll bruise it.
- 2 Scatter feta and mint on top.

APPLE & SHARP CHEDDAR GRILLED CHEESE WITH HONEY

WEIRD SCORE  12 MIN SERVES 1 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Apple pie with cheddar is a thing. This is the sandwich version.

Butter

80 g sharp cheddar, grated

1/2 crisp apple, sliced thin

1 tsp honey

Pinch of black pepper

METHOD

- 1 Butter the outside of both slices.
- 2 Layer cheddar, apple, pepper, more cheddar between them.

08 PEANUT BUTTER BACON SMASH BURGER

WEIRD SCORE  20 MIN SERVES 2 SWEET × SALTY

THE HOOK

Peanut butter on a burger. I know. Try it once.

Why it works. Peanut butter is fat, salt and a little sweetness, the same job a slice of American cheese does, plus roasted depth that loves bacon and beef.

INGREDIENTS

300 g beef mince (80/20)

4 rashers bacon

2 tbsp smooth peanut butter

2 burger buns

2 slices American cheese

Pickles, sliced

Hot honey or sriracha (optional)

Salt

METHOD

- 1 Fry the bacon until crisp; keep the pan.
- 2 Split the mince into 4 balls. Press each flat onto the hot pan with a spatula, salt the top, cook 2 minutes, flip, add cheese, 1 minute more.
- 3 Toast the buns in the bacon fat.

WEIRD SCORE  2 MIN SERVES 1 SPICY x SWEET

THE HOOK

The condiment that's on my eggs is now on my dessert and I'm not going back.

Why it works. Chili crisp is oil, crunch, garlic, a little sugar and heat. Vanilla ice cream is cold fat and sugar. Fat loves fat; cold calms the heat; crunch finishes it.

INGREDIENTS

2 scoops vanilla ice cream

1–2 tsp chili crisp (the crunchy bits, not just the oil)

Flaky salt

Optional: crushed peanuts

METHOD

- 1 Scoop the ice cream.
- 2 Spoon chili crisp over it, making sure you get the crispy bits.

WEIRD SCORE  15 MIN SERVES 4 SPICY x SWEET

THE HOOK

Caramel corn with Korean chili paste. Sticky, sweet, slow-burning.

Why it works. Gochujang is sweet and savory already; caramel just amplifies the sweet side and the heat shows up late.

INGREDIENTS

60 g butter

100 g brown sugar

1 tbsp gochujang

1 tbsp golden syrup or honey

1/4 tsp baking soda

Flaky salt, sesame seeds

13 SRIRACHA HONEY BUTTER TOAST

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 5 MIN SERVES 1 SPICY × SWEET

THE HOOK

Honey butter toast is a Korean café classic. Add sriracha and it's dangerous.

Why it works. Butter fat carries both the sugar and the capsaicin, so the heat is soft and the sweetness lingers.

INGREDIENTS

1 thick slice brioche or milk bread

1 tbsp soft butter

1 tbsp honey

1 tsp sriracha

Pinch of flaky salt

METHOD

- 1 Mash the butter, honey and sriracha into a paste.
- 2 Spread thick on the bread, edge to edge.
- 3 Toast in a dry pan butter-side down over medium heat 2–3 minutes until caramelised, or under the grill.

14 SPICY PINEAPPLE SMASH TACOS

WEIRD SCORE  20 MIN SERVES 2 SPICY x SWEET

THE HOOK

Pineapple on tacos is the pineapple-on-pizza debate but everyone agrees on this one.

Why it works. Caramelised pineapple sugar against chili and salty pork is the al pastor principle. The lime makes it loud.

INGREDIENTS

300 g pork or chicken mince

1 tsp smoked paprika, 1 tsp cumin, 1/2 tsp chili powder, salt

1 cup pineapple, small dice

1 small red onion, diced

6 small corn tortillas

Coriander, lime, hot sauce

48 · Salted Pretzel Milkshake

44 SLEEPY GIRL MOCKTAIL

WEIRD SCORE ● ● ● ● ● 3 MIN SERVES 1 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

THE HOOK

Tart cherry juice, magnesium and sparkling water. The bedtime drink TikTok made famous.

Why it works. Tart cherry is sour and a little bitter; magnesium powder is fizzy and faintly sweet; soda makes it feel like a cocktail. Treat it as a nice drink, not medicine.

INGREDIENTS

1/2 cup tart cherry juice

1 tsp magnesium powder (the drink kind)

Sparkling water

Ice, a lime wedge

METHOD

1 Ice in a glass.

2 Cherry juice, stir in the magnesium powder.

3 Top with sparkling water. Lime.

Tip. Check the magnesium label for serving size; the drink works just as well without it.

45 ESPRESSO TONIC WITH ORANGE

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 3 MIN SERVES 1 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

THE HOOK

Coffee and tonic water. Sounds wrong, tastes like a summer in Scandinavia.

Why it works. Tonic's bitterness and bubbles match espresso's bitterness; orange adds sweet acid. Bitter plus bitter plus citrus somehow reads as refreshing.

INGREDIENTS

1 double espresso, cooled slightly

150 ml tonic water, cold

Ice

A strip of orange peel

METHOD

- 1 Fill a tall glass with ice. Pour in the tonic.
- 2 Pour the espresso slowly over the top so it layers.
- 3 Twist the orange peel over the glass and drop it in.

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 15 MIN SERVES 4 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

THE HOOK

Chocolate mousse with olive oil instead of cream. Four ingredients, restaurant texture.

Why it works. Olive oil's fruitiness lifts dark chocolate's bitterness; the whipped egg whites make it light; salt sharpens everything.

INGREDIENTS

150 g dark chocolate (70%)

60 ml extra-virgin olive oil

3 eggs, separated

3 tbsp sugar

Pinch of salt

Flaky salt to finish

METHOD

- 1 Melt the chocolate; stir in the olive oil and the egg yolks.
- 2 Whisk whites with the sugar and salt to soft peaks.
- 3 Fold whites into the chocolate in three goes, gently.
- 4 Spoon into glasses, chill 2 hours. Flaky salt and a thread of oil on top.

Tip. This uses raw egg whites; use fresh eggs and skip it if you avoid raw egg.

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 20 MIN SERVES 4 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

WEIRD SCORE  5 MIN SERVES 2 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

A pinch of salt makes watermelon juice taste twice as sweet. Chili makes it a drink you crave.

1/4 tsp salt

Pinch of chili powder or Tajín for the rim

Ice, mint

MISO CARAMEL LATTE

WEIRD SCORE ●●●●● 8 MIN SERVES 1 DRINKS & DESSERT CHAOS

1 double espresso

200 ml milk

2 tbsp miso caramel (page 26) or 1 tbsp
caramel sauce + 1/2 tsp white miso

Ice (optional)

METHOD

- 1 Stir the miso caramel into the hot espresso until dissolved.

THE FILMING FORMULA

Every recipe's film plan is the same three-shot structure. Seven to fifteen seconds. No talking required.

Shot 1 · The "wait, what?"

The weird ingredient meeting the normal one. Overhead or close-up. Your hook line goes here as on-screen text, big, centred, in the first second.

Shot 2 · The transformation

The pour, the melt, the flip, the drizzle. Slow it down 50%. This is the shot people rewatch.

Shot 3 · The payoff

The bite, the crunch, the cross-section, the reaction. Put the phone close to the food so the sound carries. End on the reaction face or the "read caption" text.

Caption

The full recipe in the caption, ingredients first. People save videos with the recipe in the caption at about twice the rate. End with a question: "would you try it?"

Light, sound, length

Shoot by a window, phone on a stand, 9:16. Original audio on for the crunch and sizzle; add a trending sound at low volume if you want. Seven to twelve seconds for a single combo; up to twenty for a three-step recipe. Post the weird-score 4s and 5s first.

The comment plan

Pin a comment with the recipe link or "full recipe in my bio". Reply to the first ten "absolutely not" comments with "try it and report back"; those replies are free reach.

TASTE-TEST SCORECARD

Rate every combo on camera. The numbers become content: "ranking every weird combo I tried this month".

SWAPS & SUBSTITUTIONS

No chili crisp

Mix 2 tbsp neutral oil, 1 tsp chili flakes, 1 tsp fried onions or crushed peanuts, pinch of salt and sugar.

No hot honey

Honey + a pinch of chili flakes, 30 seconds in the microwave. Or honey + a few drops of hot sauce.

No miso

Use a pinch of extra salt plus 1/2 tsp soy sauce. You lose some depth, not the recipe.

No Tajín

Equal parts chili powder and flaky salt with a grating of lime zest.

No gochujang

Sriracha plus a teaspoon of brown sugar and a few drops of soy.

No cottage cheese

Thick Greek yogurt in the bowls; ricotta in the cookie dough.

No kataifi

Crushed cornflakes or crispy rice cereal toasted in butter. Not the same, still crunchy.

Vegetarian / vegan

Bacon → smoked tempeh or coconut bacon; fish sauce → soy + a squeeze of lime; parmesan → nutritional yeast + salt; eggs in mousse → whipped aquafaba.

Temperatures: oven and air-fryer settings are for fan ovens. Add 10–15°C (20–25°F) for conventional. Cook poultry to 74°C/165°F.
